George Kaneko, Interior Architect

Well known for their excellence in Art and Design, the Executive Floors project for the I.M. Pei Arco Towers in Dallas was a collaboration with Kaneko, Laff & Associates and Herbert Bayer, Arco Design and Art Director. The corporate palette standards of grey, red and blue were well established. As senior designer for George Kaneko, Audrey Alberts selected the furniture and furnishings for the project.

One of the most interesting challenges was creating a “menu” of furniture and fabrics within these standards that could be totally flexible. Executives were allowed to choose from the menu, creating individualized offices that still remained compatible the overall design of the floor.
